SALT CREEK FLOODING MINOR

Portions Of Bodies Recovered

Army officials from a helicopter are carrying rubber bags which hold portions of bodies of some of the 70 persons who perished

when a TWA Super-Constellation crashed in this rugged canyon after apparently colliding in mid-air with a UAL DC-7. (AP Wirephoto).

Canyon Winds Force Body Recovery Halt

Some Of 128 Victims Brought From Scene In 5 Sacks

By FRANK WETZEL

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—Turbulent winds swished through the Grand Canyon Monday and interrupted recovery operations at the desolate, grisly scene where 128 persons died in commercial aviation's greatest disaster.

Before the operation was halted, the remains of several of the victims were brought out in five rubber sacks from the eastern end of the canyon, where a TWA Super Constellation and a United Air Lines DC7 hurtled into jagged buttes Saturday, presumably after colliding in flight.

There were indications that the recovery operation would be restricted again Tuesday. The Weather Bureau said strong winds will develop in northern Arizona by late morning, and added that flying conditions in the canyon probably will be "extremely turbulent."

Twelve men were left at the crash scene when the operation was halted. The temporarily stranded party included four paramedics and their warrant officer, two Civil Aeronautics Board representatives, two TWA officials and one United Air Lines representative, and the Coconino County coroner and deputy county attorney.

"A Mess" It was still uncertain Monday night how many bodies could be recovered at any time. The first recovery crews to make the perilous flight to the site of the scattered wreckage described it as "a mess" and said "There isn't much left."

2nd Lt. Philip S. Prince, USAF, who flew within 25 feet of the disintegrated DC7 said, "I don't think there were any bodies where we were. If there were, we couldn't see them."

The job of removing bodies, even from the more accessible peak into which the TWA plane crashed, is complicated by probably the most rugged terrain in the nation. A National Park Service official said it would be impossible for mountain climbers to reach the United wreckage.

Former Lincoln Man Victim

One of the persons killed in the United Air Lines crash over the Grand Canyon, Ariz., is a former Lincolnite and the son-in-law of a Lincoln couple.

Floyd A. Nixon, 44, of Detroit, Mich., lived in Lincoln about 20 years ago. He is the son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Johnson of 4702 Calvert and his wife is the former Wilma Johnson. They were married in Lincoln.

Mr. Nixon had worked in Lincoln and attended school at Shelton and Omaha. He was planning to visit Lincoln soon on a business trip. At the time of the crash he was on a business trip for R. L. Polk and Company. He had been connected with the company for many years.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Harold and Larry, mother and sister in California, and a brother of Cleveland, O.

DULLES CLAIMS: Chance Of War Is Less

Economic Power Of Red Machine Is 'Greater'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says the chances of Russia starting a war are less than they were a year ago, although its economic capability to make war is greater.

Dulles signified the administration's intention to continue U.S. aid to Communist Yugoslavia despite Premier Tito's closer ties visit to Russia. Dulles said Tito has a "passionate dedication" to his country's independence.

The secretary of state testified in closed session May 24 and June 13 before a House appropriations subcommittee considering the request of the administration for $4,900,000,000 for foreign aid. The committee made his testimony public Monday.

Dulles reported the Soviets, under their "new look" foreign policy emphasizing the nonmilitary approach, have put up about a billion dollars worth of foreign aid of their own in the last 18 months in the form of easy-term loans. He said 239 millions in Communist bloc aid went to Yugoslavia.

Dulles said, too, that the announced Russian plan to cut back its number of men in uniform by 1,200,000 would not reduce Russia's military potential but could help its economy.

"These men that may be moved to factories and farms are all persons who are highly trained," he said. "they could very quickly be brought back again. And the Soviet Union has not indicated any intention to do away with armaments that these men would use if they were called back."

"Liberalism" However, Dulles drew a picture of encouragement from what he called "forces of liberalism" at work in Russia since Stalin's death. He said these developments such as greater freedom of thought may bring about a "genuine change" in Russia over a period of, say, the next 10 years.

But he said it would be "disaster" to think so much of a change has already occurred that the United States could let up on its own security efforts yet.

Questioned by subcommittee Chairman Otto E. Passman (D-La.) as to whether the peace outlook is now more favorable than it was last year, Dulles replied: "I think as far as the Soviet Union is concerned, that there is less likelihood of a general war originated by the Soviet Union than was perhaps the case a year ago."

Butte Seminarian Drowns At Camp

EAST TROY, Wis. (AP)—Walworth County authorities Monday said a seminarian drowned near Lake Kegonsa for the body of Ronald J. Sibel, 20-year-old Roman Catholic seminarian from Butte, Neb., who fell backward from a rubber raft.

Deputies said Sibel, a second year philosophy student at the Benedictine Order's major seminary at Conception, Mo., sank without a struggle this afternoon after falling from the raft.

SALT CREEK FLOODING MINOR

Portions Of Bodies Recovered

Army officials from a helicopter are carrying rubber bags which hold portions of bodies of some of the 70 persons who perished

Canyon Winds Force Body Recovery Halt

Some Of 128 Victims Brought From Scene In 5 Sacks

By FRANK WETZEL

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—Turbulent winds swished through the Grand Canyon Monday and interrupted recovery operations at the desolate, grisly scene where 128 persons died in commercial aviation's greatest disaster.

Before the operation was halted, the remains of several of the victims were brought out in five rubber sacks from the eastern end of the canyon, where a TWA Super Constellation and a United Air Lines DC7 hurtled into jagged buttes Saturday, presumably after colliding in flight.

There were indications that the recovery operation would be restricted again Tuesday. The Weather Bureau said strong winds will develop in northern Arizona by late morning, and added that flying conditions in the canyon probably will be "extremely turbulent."

Twelve men were left at the crash scene when the operation was halted. The temporarily stranded party included four paramedics and their warrant officer, two Civil Aeronautics Board representatives, two TWA officials and one United Air Lines representative, and the Coconino County coroner and deputy county attorney.

It was still uncertain Monday night how many bodies could be recovered at any time. The first recovery crews to make the perilous flight to the site of the scattered wreckage described it as "a mess" and said "There isn't much left."

2nd Lt. Philip S. Prince, USAF, who flew within 25 feet of the disintegrated DC7 said, "I don't think there were any bodies where we were. If there were, we couldn't see them."

The job of removing bodies, even from the more accessible peak into which the TWA plane crashed, is complicated by probably the most rugged terrain in the nation.

A National Park Service official said it would be impossible for mountain climbers to reach the United wreckage.

Virtually all observers at the crash scene agreed the planes must have collided at about 21,000 feet while both were flying from Los Angeles to the East. The Constellation was bound for Kansas City; the DC7 for New York.

The giant, ill-fated airliners took off from Los Angeles Airport three minutes apart Saturday morning, flying similar routes and heading for an identical checkpoint over the Painted Desert of northern Arizona, about 20 miles east of Grand Canyon Village.

They originally were scheduled to reach the checkpoint at the same time but at different altitudes. The CAA reported that, while above the Mojave Desert in California, the TWA pilot asked to change his altitude from 19,000 to 21,000 feet. Before the CAA could advise him United was flying at 21,000, the TWA pilot reported he would fly visually 1,000 feet above the cloud level.

This set up a tragic coincidence. Thunderclouds over the Grand Canyon were at 20,000 feet. Therefore, if both pilots followed their flight plans, they would both have been at 21,000.

$2 Million In Policies On Victims

Lincoln Star Special
PALOS VERDES, Calif. — The head of a "trip insurance" sales firm said here Monday that trip insurance held by passengers of the planes that crashed in Arizona would "definitely exceed $2,000,000."

A. M. Klum, president of Mercury International and a former University of Nebraska student, said incomplete reports from across the nation indicated the "more than $2,000,000" figure. Klum, contacted by The Star, said only about 25 per cent of the insurance had been purchased on the west coast. Many of the passengers were returning on round-trip tickets and held trip insurance purchased at their original points of departure.

The three major underwriters handling the insurance, Klum told The Star, are Associated Aviation Underwriters of New York, Continental Casualty of Chicago and Mutual of Omaha.

Klum's firm handles the machines through which such trip insurance is sold at many airports, and the company also operates airport counters where the insurance may be purchased.

A one-time NU football player, Klum is married to the former Helen Elizabeth Lawrence daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lawrence of Lincoln.

DULLES CLAIMS: Chance Of War Is Less

Economic Power Of Red Machine Is 'Greater'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says the chances of Russia starting a war are less than they were a year ago, although its economic capability to make war is greater. Dulles signified the administration's intention to continue U.S. aid to Communist Yugoslavia despite Premier Tito's closer ties to Russia. Dulles said Tito has a "passionate dedication" to his country's independence.

The secretary of state testified in closed session May 24 and June 13 before a House appropriations subcommittee considering the request of the administration for $4,900,000,000 for foreign aid. The committee made his testimony public Monday.

Dulles reported the Soviets, under their "new look" foreign policy emphasizing the nonmilitary approach, have put up about a billion dollars worth of foreign aid of their own in the last 18 months in the form of easy-term loans. He said 299 millions in Communist bloc aid went to Yugoslavia.

Dulles said, too, that the announced Russian plan to cut back its number of men in uniform by 1,200,000 would not reduce Russia's military potential but could help its economy.

"These men that may be moved to factories and farms aimed," he said, "they could very quickly be brought back again. And the Soviet Union has not indicated any intention to do away with arms. These men would use if they were called back."

However, Dulles drew a picture of encouragement from what he called "forces of liberalism" at work in Russia since Stalin's death. He said these developments such as greater freedom of thought may bring about a "genius change" in Russia over a period of, say, "the next 10 years."

But he said "it would be 'disaster' to think so much of a change has already occurred that the United States could let up on its own security efforts yet."

Questioned by subcommittee Chairman Otto E. Passman (D-La.) as to whether the peace outlook is now more favorable than it was last year, Dulles replied: "I think, as far as the Soviet Union is concerned, that there is less likelihood of a general war originated by the Soviet Union than was perhaps the case a year ago."

Butte Seminarian Drowns At Camp

EAST TROY, Wis. (AP)—Walworth County authorities Monday searched nearby Lake Koshong for the body of Ronald J. Sibel, 20-year-old Roman Catholic seminarian from Butte, Neb., who fell backward from a rubber raft. Deputies said Sibel, a second year philosophy student at the Benedictine Order's major seminary at Conception, Mo., sank without a struggle last afternoon after falling from the raft.

Brehm For Consolidating Jail Plus Assessors

Answers Jeary's Proposal

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Board Chairman Russell Brehm has proposed immediate consolidation of both city and county jails and assessors' offices.

His proposal came as a counter-reply to a letter from Lincoln Mayor Clark Jeary that the jails be combined.

Brehm has invited the City Council at its "earliest convenience" to meet with the County Board on these matters.

"Last Tuesday's election," Brehm said in his letter, "certainly indicated that the people of this county are tax conscious and that they want savings of tax dollars by local governments as soon as possible."

Start Economies

Brehm said it was his thinking that both the City Council and County Board "should start effecting economies in all phases of city and county government immediately."

Brehm said he thought the consolidations of the jails and assessors' offices could be accomplished without change in the city charter or state law.

However, Brehm noted that consolidation of the city and county treasurers' offices could not be consolidated without certain change in state laws.

Brehm said the county was "hopeful" that state law changes necessary for the consolidations of the city and county treasurers' office could "come about during the 1957 Legislature."

Note Criticism

In suggesting consolidation of the county jail with the city facilities, Mayor Jeary had noted long standing criticism of the county's facilities, and especially during the election campaign for a city-county building.

Mayor Jeary said in his letter that the Council was appointing a committee to study necessary charter amendments for consolidation of tax collecting and assessing offices.

A citizens committee had reported last February that the city could turn over its tax collecting and assessing to the county with a possible savings of $40,000 annually, according to Brehm's letter.

Overflow At Roca Causes Little Alarm

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Flood waters rushed down the outskirts of Roca Monday, a sione's throw from a group of farmer's playing cards in a local store. Talk was of flooding but no one seemed overly concerned.

"It's not nearly as bad as several other floods we've had. The corn isn't damaged much because the ears haven't developed yet, and none of it is washing away," one farmer said as he slapped a card on the table.

The swollen waters registered 20 1/2 feet at the steel bridge a step west of Roca on the road leading to U.S. 77. The waters flooded land south along the Burlington tracks down to Hickman where the entire Hickman Park was inundated.

Farmers Pete Buel, Ralph Wilham, Homer Cook, Doyle Crawford, Bill Fisher, Elton Peterson, Charlie Tenopir, Ralph Harlan and

Walter Moser, farming along the flooded lowlands from Roca to Hickman, worried about the water expected to rush down from Cheney later.

George Lorenzen of Hickman said, "It started to rain about 11 a.m. and rained until 1 or 1:30 p.m. It really came down. The visibility was poor. Rained 2 1/2 inches here, easy."

A mile southwest of Hickman, a farmer reported 3 1/2 inches of rain. Three to 3 1/2 inches were reported near Roca.

Roads from U.S. 77 to Hickman and Roca were covered with water ranging from 10 to 18 inches. Trucks and some cars plodded slowly through the water, but most turned back.

Damage was reported to 20 acres of wheat on the Ralph Williams farm and to Elton Hoover's oats. But much of the wheat which had already been combined was safe on other farms.

No cattle or other livestock or poultry were reported drowned or injured.

No Towns Flooded

None of the towns near the path of Salt Creek, Holland, Hickman and Roca, were in danger of flooding.

One could see fast flowing muddy water touching the bottom side of many narrow wooden bridges from Bennet to Hickman and Roca.

And farmers' ponds were brimful of rain water. U.S. 77 was clear but the Saltillo road to Hickman was surrounded by water on both sides.

The only sign of concern in the area was a boat on a trailer brought out from Lincoln by a soil conservation service agent who was preparing for any emergency, including possible higher waters.

Subsoil Moisture Said Still Lacking

Kenneth Logan of the State-Federal Division of Agriculture Statistics said that Lancaster County has been one of the driest counties in the state and even after Monday's rains is lacking in subsoil moisture.

"Moisture has slowed down the wheat harvest, but it will benefit corn, sorghum, alfalfa and pasture feeds," he said.

Logan said, "If we could get the wheat and oats off the land and then get another nice slow rain, we would be in good shape."

Yates Named To U.S. Chamber Committee

Burnham Yates of Lincoln is one of 31 members appointed to the 1956-57 Finance Department Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Yates is president of the First National Bank of Lincoln.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Chamber President John S. Coleman.

The committee, composed of businessmen from throughout the country, deals with matters of national and international finance, helping to guide legislative policy for the Chamber of Commerce.

Who was one of the first to reach the scene? Bob Reynolds, no less, who lives just a short distance away.

The driver of the other car was Donald L. Smejkel, 29, of Omaha, police said.

Two Said 'Good'

Raymond McGuire of 218 No. 21st and Mrs. William C. Parrish of Osceola, Ia., were reported in good condition early Tuesday at Bryan Memorial Hospital, where they are under treatment for injuries received in an automobile accident which took the lives of Mrs. Parrish's husband and son.

LAYOFF NOTICES POSTED

... By Other Industries

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The federal government Monday arranged separate meetings Thursday with steel industry and union leaders in an effort to revive contract negotiations in the two-day-old steel strike.

The move came as railroads and other carriers largely dependent on steel industry business posted layoff notices affecting thousands of employees. They will be idle along with 650,000 United Steelworkers members for the duration of the walkout.

Joseph F. Finnegan, federal mediation service director, said he will meet in Pittsburgh with representatives of each side in the deadlock.

The meetings will be "exploratory in nature and for the purpose of discussing the real difference between the union and the industry representatives," Finnegan said.

The government action indicated plainly there is no hope for the negotiators to resume contract talks before the July Fourth holiday, Wednesday. Negotiations were broken off in New York Saturday night.

The union's basic steel members walked out at midnight Saturday, cutting off 90 per cent of the nation's steel production.

Finnegan scheduled the meeting after holding telephone conversations with USW President David J. McDonald and John A. Stephens, vice president of U.S. Steel Corp., and chief industry negotiator.

The Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads were the first to post furlough notices.

The union, in the final week of prestrike bargaining, rejected an offer of a 52-month contract that industry officials said would have given workers an hourly package increase of 17 2/3 cents, including a 7.2 cent immediate wage hike.

The workers were earning an hourly average of $2.46.

Employee Tells Of Setting $100,000 Fire

OMAHA (AP)—Lee Helms Jr., 31-year-old employee of an insulation company, confessed Monday to setting the fire that gutted a building in Omaha June 24. Damage from the blaze was estimated at $100,000.

Helms confessed after a lie detector test.

Police said Helms told them he flipped a lighted match into some gasoline he deliberately spilled on the floor.

He was angry because he thought insinuations had been made about his work, Helms said.

The building housed the Vaughn Insulation Co., the Charles T. Vaughn Co. and the Plubric Sales and Service Co., all under Vaughn management and dealing in insulating materials.

No Itinerary For Stevenson's Trip Through This Area

CHICAGO, (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will visit Iowa July 5 to make an on-the-spot study of farm conditions.

The Chicago office of the Democratic presidential candidate said Monday Stevenson will start his farm tour by automobile accompanied by Don Murphy, editor emeritus of Wallace's Farmer, and Art Thompson, editor of Wallace's Farmer and Iowa Homestead, a farm paper.

Stevenson's son, Adlai Jr., also will accompany the party.

A spokesman said no itinerary has been mapped but that Stevenson hopes to visit several counties in southern Iowa and perhaps parts of Missouri and Nebraska.

The candidate will attend a Democratic picnic in Bloomington, Ill., on July 4.

Mrs. Florence Holmes, 75, of 1916 S was reported in good condition early Tuesday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

WEST ASKS FOR U.N.'S OK ON DISARMAMENT

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The West opened a drive Monday for endorsement by the U.N. Disarmament Commission of a declaration of basic disarmament principles turned down by Russia last spring.

At the same time, Western delegates conferred on ways and means of meeting an expected surprise move by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister.

The 12-nation Disarmament Commission will meet Tuesday for full discussion of the disarmament situation.

Anthony Nutting, No. 2 man in the British Foreign Office, is set to present a resolution asking endorsement of the declaration of principles made by the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

In brief, the declaration calls for a program of disarmament by stages, under effective international control, and with reductions in armed forces as world conditions permit. It also provides that at an appropriate stage and under proper safeguards the build-up of nuclear weapons should be stopped and all future production of nuclear material devoted to peaceful uses. It includes President Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspections to guard against surprise attacks.

RABBI HOLDS SECOND RITE FOR MILLERS

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The rabbi who officiated at the second marriage of Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller said Monday they were wed "in accordance with the laws and traditions of Israel."

The couple was first married Friday by a city court judge.

Sunday they repeated their vows in a religious ceremony.

Rabbi Robert E. Goldberg said two weeks ago he agreed to perform the ceremony in Miller's home July 1, and was surprised when he heard they had been married Friday.

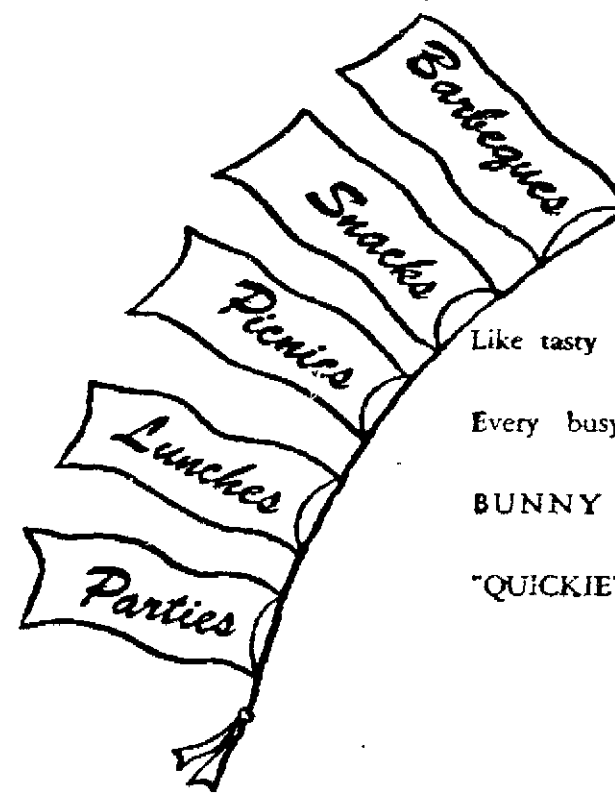

But he said Miller changed his mind after dozens of reporters showed up for a press conference to hear when and where the marriage would take place.

So the couple decided on a quick civil ceremony, as the rabbi said, "on the impulse of the moment and to put everybody except the immediate family off the track. It's easy to understand."

DEPLANE'S POSTCARD

Moab is the oldest town in Southern Utah. The first Mormons, the Billings party, came down in 1855 and saw the nearby Colorado River would be fine for irrigating the valley.

They therefore gave the word to the Ute Indians about religion. Also that they would be glad to take over the real estate. The Utes were not impressed. The Utes said the only thing they cared to raise was some body else's hair. Which could be done without irrigation and required only a sharp knife.

They demonstrated this on a few of the Billings contingent. A demonstration so discouraging that nobody came back until about 1880. They named the settlement Moab for the country where Moses died looking at the land of Canaan.

In the nineties, Butch Cassidy and the Wild Bunch holed up a few miles away at Robbers' Roost and, occasionally, rode over and shot a few holes in the frame shacks on Main street.

By 1932, a Texas geologist named Charlie Steen came into town on a grubstake borrowed from a service station operator. He came back out of the Big Indian district with the Mi Vida uranium mine. Estimated at $70,000,000.

The amateur prospector boom of 1934 built a whole new main street full of parking meters. Boomed in '34, busted in '35.

Bob White who writes mining news all over the Southwest drove me out to an old shady frame shack the other day to meet Mr. R. W. Balsley.

"Mr. Balsley has been mining uranium since 1912. Not many people know that."

"Mr. Balsley used to go out and get sacks of the stuff. They say during depression he kept Moab alive. People would go out and prospect up a sack of high-grade uranium and sell it for $5 to $8. It kept them in food."

Mr. Balsley was in his back yard. He said he was making a homemade drill and would be glad to tell the story of the Yellow Circle mine.

"It was about 1912 and this fellow, this prospector Charlie Snell had a dream. Dreamed of a yellow circle in a rock. That's a type of uranium shows up yellow."

"Well, sir, the next morning, he went over about 15 miles where he remembered the landmarks in the dream and there he found the yellow circle in the rock."

"That's the way we used to find uranium. Had to have 20 to 50 per cent uranium to make it worthwhile. No Geiger counters so you had to look for outcroppings. Used to look for petrified logs. The logs go to uranium salts when they petrify."

White said he had also heard the dream story. But it was not Charlie Snell but Charlie McConkie and he dreamed of a petrified log sticking out of a cliff.

"Must have been two different people and two different dreams then," said Mr. Balsley. He took us around in the front of the yard and showed us a rock with a yellow circle in it.

"That's the very rock Charlie Snell dreamed about and the one he found. And that Yellow Circle mine has been going 40-odd years and still producing about 600 tons a month."

While I was in Moab, about a half dozen jeeps came through. Loaded with water bags and supplies.

White said there was plenty of uranium out there. And Mr. Balsley agreed.

"But all those thousands of prospectors in 1934 found out that uranium is like gold. It's hard to find. I found that out back in 1912. But I've been going ever since."

—HIGHWAY 35 RELOCATION— Objectors' Attorney Believes Further Court Action Futile

Frank Morrison of Lincoln, attorney for northeast Nebraskans who have been trying to block relocation of Highway 35 between Wayne and Wakefield, said Monday no further court action is planned "at this time."

He said he had not discussed the matter with his clients since the State Supreme Court last week upheld the Lancaster District Court in dismissing their suit, but he believes further court steps would be futile.

The northeast group has sought a declaratory judgment on the constitutionality and validity of the law (LB 187) which mapped out a revised state highway system and called for relocation of Highway 35.

Without ruling on the issues of the suit, the Supreme Court held the action failed to name all the defendants who should have been named and as such should be dismissed.

The suit was brought against the governor, state engineer and attorney general. The court said the state auditor, state treasurer and 16 contractors also should have been included.

Demos Tear Into GOP Senators For 'Smear Sheet'

Neuberger Opens Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats tore into their Republican colleagues Monday for circulating what Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) called a "despicable smear sheet," saying the Communists want the Democrats to win this year's elections.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.) touched off the assault with a Senate speech calling attention to a document which came out of the Senate Republican Policy Committee last week labeled a "Staff Memorandum." He quoted it as saying the official Communist line is that "the Republicans must be defeated and all support thrown to the Democrats."

Other Democrats pitched into the attack although GOP leader Knowland of California sought to placate them by saying "in my judgment the senators on the Democratic side are patriotic."

Knowland said that as between the Republican and Democratic parties, "one is as loyal as the other."

Neuberger called it "incredible" that the staff memorandum should say neither Republican senators nor the committee was responsible for the statements made in the memorandum.

He said Knowland should explain "how this kind of discredited smear campaign may be reopened against the majority party in political memoranda issued on behalf of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, while at the same time disclaiming any responsibility whatever for such smear tactics on the part of the committee or any Republican senator."

Neuberger asked, "I think the Senate is entitled to know this."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) demanded that, if the senators aren't responsible for the statements of their staff, somebody tell him who is responsible and what they are going to do about it.

School Bonds At Fairbury Nixed Again

FAIRBURY, Neb.—Voters of the Fairbury school district Monday rejected a $365,000 school bond proposal for the second time by a 1,197 to 953 vote.

The same proposal was defeated May 14th in the primary election by a 1,111 to 929 vote.

The proposal needed a 55 per cent majority to carry. The total vote of 2,150 Monday, not counting 106 absentee ballots which are to be counted Friday, showed 44 per cent for the proposal.

In the primary election, when 2,040 voted, including the mail vote, the proposal lacked only 11 votes of the required 55 per cent majority.

The money would have been used to build two new grade schools and an addition between the high school building and the gymnasium-auditorium building.

The second election was called when more than 500 people signed petitions, which were circulated after the first election asking the school board to call for another vote.

Freedom Gate West Slammed

BERLIN (AP)—Red Poland Monday slammed the Iron Curtain on the East German frontier to block rebel workers seeking to flee the terror of a Communist purge in Poznan.

Western travelers arriving from Poznan reported young Polish workers trying desperately to get through the Red security ring around the city in a westward break for freedom.

In Vienna a compilation of eyewitness estimates received by Western diplomatic sources put the dead from last week's three-day revolt at "close to 1,000." This was far greater than the 200 to 600 estimate of Western businessmen arriving here and the figure announced by the Polish government of 43 killed and 270 wounded.

The Warsaw government ordered thousands of steel-helmeted troops and police to hunt refugees from Poznan in automobiles and trains rolling westward.

Collapse Kills 15

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Fifteen persons, five of them firemen, were killed in the collapse of a three-story apartment house and 15 others were injured.

The collapse occurred when firemen and rescue workers were fighting a fire in the house caused by a short circuit.

Does the telephone in your house always seem to be busy when you want to use it? Friends tell you they tried all evening to get you but the line was busy?

There is a simple solution—just install a second line in your home. It's especially helpful if you have teenagers in the family. They can have their name listed on the second number too if you wish.

The monthly cost—just $5.00 plus federal tax for a "private line. The business office will be glad to tell you more about it.

Council Approves Training Program For City Employees

A program of special training for city employees has been approved by the City Council.

Proposed by City Administrator James Mallon, the program will be started with one class in public relations to be given by the University of Nebraska. Attendance at the class will be voluntary and on the employees' own time.

This first venture is to cost the city an estimated $1,000.

If successful, Mallon said, other classes such as work efficiency, management and administration will be offered. Each course will consist of 10 two-hour classes.

Such programs, Mallon said, have met with great success in other cities.

The Democratic Platform

Nebraska Democrats, convening at North Platte, came forward with a state platform that the majority of the state's Republicans subscribe to at home, but vote against on election day.

It was a platform mostly designed to keep Nebraska's principle business—agriculture—in sound health and its public power set-up in a position to remain abreast of the state's growing needs.

The Democrats led from strength when they called for the abandonment of flexible farm price supports. They could look out the window and see the damage of three years of application of that misnamed effort to solve surpluses and stabilize farming. They demanded a return to the concept of the original ever-normal granary, the distribution of surplus foods to needy nations and to Americans themselves.

It Is Time For The Decision

Congressional approval of a $1.4 billion 13 year national highway improvement program opened the floodgates of federal aid money to Nebraska and brought added taxes with it.

But it was not an unmitigated blessing. The taxes are here to stay for 16 years. But the millions earmarked for Nebraska's highway system require state matching funds. The question is how and where to get the money to use for the key to unlock the treasury.

The federal gasoline tax went up one cent July 1. An added tax on rubber has become effective. Nebraska Highway Engineer L. N. Rens said the new measure would make $139 million in federal aid funds available to Nebraska in the coming three years. That much whose economic position does not provide for adequate eating. They advocated expansion of the federal rural credit program. Most of those recommendations lack the glister of new and brave thinking but they have this to recommend them. They have a record of past effectiveness and come at relatively low cost.

After three years there is weariness over so much sweeping away of the old reliable forces and their replacement with ventures that do better on the debating platform than out in the fields. Their actual record is one of considerable expense and small headway against the basic problem of how to cope with surpluses without dangerous damage to agriculture.

It will be interesting to see how Nebraska Democracy fares during the coming campaign weeks with its restatement of proven cases.

The Hells Canyon Issue

The House Interior committee struck a blow for public power last week when it dealt approvingly with a bill rejecting private power's plans for small dams on the Snake River. It is tangible. The problem from there becomes domestic and speculative. The greatest prize—inter-state road aid—is offered on a basis of $90 of federal aid for every $10 of state money. But the barrier is the requirement of fund matching for other types of highways first. Some of this is on a 60-40 matching basis and the rest on a straight 50-50 arrangement.

No one relishes the task that is ahead of the state administration and the Legislature, but the problem was made real by the need for highways and this action of Congress. There is little time left for equivocation. Realism must rule the day. Nebraskans expect their legislators and public officials to come up with the sound answer.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It was overcast when later in July a year ago we took off from the International Airport at Los Angeles at seven in the morning for a flight to Omaha. We were in Omaha before two o'clock and from the coolness and beauty of the higher altitudes, a target on the ground for a hot sun which had sent the thermometer to 105.

We thought about that flight Saturday afternoon when word came over the telegraph wires that two giant planes with more than 100 passengers aboard were missing. Then later in the evening the second worst air disaster became an accepted fact, possibly, the result of a collision in the skies, the first of its kind in the history of commercial aviation here.

A year ago we were soon out of the overcast and the smog over the bay and into the clear blue sky, filled with sunshine. It was a surprisingly short time when we picked up the lower Colorado and its canyons, a beautiful gash in rough country. That July day a year ago we passed over a stretch of the many rapids which mark the lower river and even from the skies, the impressiveness of the walls of granite and the waves of a wild stream left its unforgettable mark upon memory. A little more than a month hence we expect to be following a different route on the way out to the coast and the swing north to the high Rockies, the moss, the lichens, and the eternal snows of the Continental Divide of the Rockies, and finally the High Sierras before gliding into the airport at San Francisco. This crash claiming 128 lives will leave its impression upon the public briefly but where any distance is involved, flying is a delightful way to travel, the toll in the skies less than the toll on the ground where the glistening highways stretch endlessly to the far horizons.

For some strange reason we had thought that the thunderheads never protrude in the higher altitudes beyond 10,000 to 12,000 feet, a rather silly naive idea of ours because in pulling into Denver for a brief stop that day we passed through thunderheads at more than 17,000 feet and a few weeks ago ran slap bang into a heavy storm over in Ohio squarely into head winds of more than 80 miles an hour. Around and about were the clouds slipping by so rapidly it was impossible to follow them. This is our world remade by science and invention. A year or two from now we will be crossing the United States, possibly, in huge airliners capable of carrying 120 passengers and of negotiating the distance from Los Angeles to New York in 3½ to four hours. Before too long, could be that we will circle the globe at the equator in fewer hours than sunup to sundown. How marvelous it is to reflect upon what has happened in our world since 1910—the countless automobiles, the airplane, the discovery of atomic energy, the constant march from one unknown to another.

In the natural, to-be-expected world, we assume that each year will produce its revelations concerning things unknown. We are reaching for the stratosphere—that strange region of such breathtaking beauty on those fringes nearest earth—the gorgeous scarlet, the purple, the yellow, the green, and many more in between—the colors painted in bold dashes by the greatest Artist in the world—not only our world but others as yet only slightly known to us and wholly unexplored by us. This latest crash was a shocking development, such a loss of life, all in the flash of an eye, the wreckage strewn on a barren point of rock where only the eagles fly, the dancing flames and then their gradual disappearance, and the cold black waters down below beneath which wreckage and people disappear. Man will make sure before the investigations are completed, whether a collision occurred. But if mystery remains unsolved, man will understand that the crowded airlines may see the dawn of a day when the greatest problem of air travel will be to eliminate any possibility of collision high in the skies.

We never go back to the old when the new is so much more fascinating, exciting, and in plain utilitarian terms, so much better than that which had existed before.

Bewildered Reds Lose Confidence

WASHINGTON—It doesn't take either a shrewd diplomat or a Washington columnist to report that some of the most important events in 40 years of Soviet history are happening in the Communist world today. World Communism is at a crossroads.

But it does take even more than a shrewd diplomat or a Washington columnist to report just what this Communist ferment means and what should be done about it.

To try to diagnose the Communist seething, let's take a closer look at it. Here are some of the amazing developments—developments presenting the United States with golden opportunities which some diplomats never dreamed would happen in this generation:

In Italy—Pietro Nenni, the left-wing Socialist hitherto playing ball with Italian Communists, has been rebuffed by Moscow and announced that he is ready to join western social democracy.

For years, Secretary Dulles' brother Allen, head of Central Intelligence, has been trying to figure out a way to win over Nenni. Eight years ago in Italy I tried to get Nenni to participate in the Friendship Train reception. He stuck with the Communists. But last week he took a public stand against Communism. This could pave the way for a solid, democratic, central-Catholic government in Italy. It's the most important development since the end of the war.

In Poland—Workers and peasants, restless against Communism, have been shot down by a government supposed to represent and protect workers and peasants.

For years, Polish-Americans in the United States have been trying to encourage such a movement. Ever since 1951, the Crusade for Freedom has been sending friendship-freedom balloon messages to the people of Poland. Now, overnight, the Polish people have shown their ire against Moscow.

In Czechoslovakia—Riotous students have been demanding more independence, more freedom of study. The Czech people have been demanding to know why Communist leaders were shot or hanged for emulating the independence of Tito and why Tito is now feted and saluted in Moscow.

For five years the Crusade for Freedom has been sending propaganda balloons across the Iron Curtain into Czechoslovakia. Suddenly the Iron Curtain seems to evaporate. Suddenly Czech students go further than the fondest dreams of American propagandists.

In France, Belgium, Denmark, Britain—Communist parties are in bitter rebellion against their local Communist leaders because they never bucked the Stalin reign of terror. Maurice Thorez, the French Communist who used to spread his summer vacations at Stalin's guest, will probably be booted out of office.

In the United States—Communist leaders are so bewildered they are almost running around in circles. How bewildered they are, how bitter at their leaders, both past and present, is illustrated by the New York Daily Worker.

The Daily Worker's own teeth-grasping editorials are more eloquent than anything I could write of what is happening in the Communist world.

"The blind and uncritical attitude of the Daily Worker in past years to the repression of the Soviet Union..." says the Daily Worker of itself in chastising itself for not challenging the rule of Stalin.

Garden Glances With The Moon

God is my shepherd: I want for nothing. My rest is in the pleasant meadows. He leadeth me where quiet waters flow. My fainting soul doth He restore. And guideth me in the ways of peace. To glorify His name. And though in death's dark valley My steps must wander, My spirit shall not fear. For Thy rod art by me still: Thy rod and staff are with me. And they shall comfort me.

Anton Dvorak

How very exhilarating to have rains the first days of July. Everything out here at the "Bird's Nest" on Locust Lane is rain-washed and beautiful. But it has kept us busy with the dust gun. If you would have healthy roses free of black spots, you really must use your favorite dust or spray before six hours have elapsed after each refreshing rainfall.

The spores of the fungi, blackspot, are carried quickly and devastatingly from leaf to leaf and from bush to bush during rains. Also, they can be transported by your hands, gloves or clothing as you tend your roses just any day. Have a care and as you tend or leisurely admire your roses, carry a paper bag and plunk each infected leaf, drop it into the bag and when you've finished, drop bag and all into your garbage can! And wash your hands immediately. If you live in the country, burn bag and all!

And what do I use to keep our rose foliage healthy during the hot days of summer? You are so right—one cannot use sulphur when days are hot and the mercury soars into high 80's and 90's. It prevents spread of blackspot but at high temperatures it will burn the foliage, thus doing as much damage as good. Only early in the spring when days and nights are cool is sulphur safe for use on our roses.

Have you ever visited the Glendale Rose Gardens at Independence, Missouri? If in Kansas City this summer or fall, take time to see this rose garden which is really a show place. Also, on your itinerary include the Unity Gardens at Lee's Summit, Mo., another garden devoted only to roses, and what roses! They are the most beautiful rose gardens in the Midwest. And each bed of roses is marked with the correct name of variety for your information and knowledge.

In our picture today we give you a glimpse of how Mr. and Mrs. Karl R. Byers have one of the oldest varieties of hemerocallis ('day lilies') as a decorative foundation planting at "Windy Hill" their home on Mohawk Street at the corner of 40th. Go by and see for yourself while the hemerocallis are at their height of bloom.

The Byers' attractive daughters, Miss Sandra (right) who will be a sophomore at the University of Nebraska this fall, is careering during summer vacation as assistant supervisor at Hawthorne School playground mornings and evenings, and Deanna, who will be a senior at Millard Leller Junior High, says her present career as baby sitting. They favored us by taking time out to be in our picture. It was no trick at all to include "Bucky," the family collie, for she happily goes where the girls go.

July 17 to 22 the American Hemerocallis Society will mark their 10th anniversary at a convention in Omaha and Maple Road Gardens, home of Henry E. Sass, who with his late father, H. P. Sass and uncle, Jacob and Henry, have originated so many of our modern prize-winning hemerocallis. Mark these days and attend one or all sessions and garden tours. So until another day—

DORIS FLEESON

Demos Comb Field For A Good Veep

WASHINGTON—The choice of Democratic convention keynote lies between Senators Humphrey of Minnesota and Kerr of Oklahoma.

Mrs. Roosevelt will address the convention Thursday evening Aug. 16. She will then fly back to New York and the next afternoon, Aug. 17, she will fly to Europe on a business-with-pleasure trip.

Special honors for President Truman await his approval on his return this week from Europe. He will address the convention and will have a box of his own close to the convention floor for the entire proceedings.

The arrangements committee will polish off these and other convention aspects in Chicago next Monday.

With Adlai Stevenson well out in front for the Democratic nomination, bedrock explorations of a possible vice president for him have begun. The choice of a Democratic candidate for vice president is crucial for a brand new reason peculiar to the coming campaign.

Its name is Nixon. Democrats expect Republicans to renominate the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket, short of an abrupt calamity to the President prior to the GOP convention. While they dislike the vice president thoroughly, they do not underestimate him. They anticipate that in a hard-hitting, clever campaign he will write off the South, beaming an appeal to the big states on civil rights, foreign policy, Communism and any other "fear issues" that suggest themselves. Their problem will be to keep it from being effective.

But while running against Nixon, which is the way they will translate the issue of the President's health, they cannot afford to risk allowing their presidential candidate to be constantly put on the defensive against the vice president's attack. Hence the search for vice president now includes the question of what Democrat can be put in second who is capable of hot pursuit of Nixon, day in, day out, for long hours and sustained attack.

The question is especially pertinent if Stevenson is the candidate. Stevenson is capable of icy indignation and cutting scorn. He finds it almost impossible not to be a gentleman in the clinches.

He has other problems as before. In 1952 he took a Southerner in second place. Some of his principal supporters feel he should do so again. They would rule out any signer of the pro-segregation manifesto, meaning Senator Sparkman. Senator Lyndon Johnson's heart attack would rob them of the health issue. The gas bill affair also hurts Johnson as well as Senator Kerr. Stevenson is not in a friendly mood toward Senator Kefauver. Senators Monroney and Fulbright are from small states and favored the gas bill. It just about leaves Senators Gore and Symington from the border states of Tennessee and Missouri respectively.

You Oldsters Had Better Give Up

ALLENHURST, N.J.—There comes a time in every parent's life when the little pink cheeks look regrettably like him says, "OK, Pop, I'll race you across the pool." The old bull at whom the challenge is flung suddenly and forlornly knows that he is washed up, or washed up again. The cunning child (the parent once thought cunning meant cute) bides his time until there is enough lard encircling his elder to stop him down as 130 pounds stops Nashua. Then the child strikes. It is not one of the sire's greater moments, let us say. He knows that from this instant onward until he meets his questioning Maker he must assume the status of non-playing captain in his cave, must make up for lost face and shattered prestige by blowing off reminiscent and ever more fictional vapor not unlike that of a Hollywood white whale.

There is no court of last resort when a wanting parent is challenged by his offspring to a physical test. No use mentioning with a racking cough and wan smile that father had a trying night at the lodge, entertaining key figures in the business, political, and fraternal fields. . . . To pay for all those fine things I've given you.

The rosy jawed, clean-limbed M-tie bum of a challenger isn't interested. With a bright and beady stare he knows suddenly he can beat the old man's brains out at a given enterprise. And so he does. A father loses as many vital decisions of this nature as he has children. Only the sport varies. I know a three-time loser who took his daughter named Debbie and two of her girl friends named Priscilla Meehan and Seton Malone to the heady pleasure domes of Asbury Park the other evening (He had promised to do so when the children were four and they steadfastly reminded him of it with clear-eyed memory until they were eight) and found this bevy of beauties eager to ride on a ghastly contraption that encloses its victims in a cage and twirls them about helplessly like people caught on a Ferris wheel running amok.

"But you just sit," this poor soul said to the girls, hunching as he looked aloft at the unnerving sight of caged people screaming through outside loops and immelmans.

The small girls nonchalantly dropped their hot coals into the turnstile and moved on to their tipsy bird cage. The child Debbie, normally piously proper, looked at her reluctant father and said one searing word: "Chicken."

Crete, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am a grandmother and I am concerned about the increase in Nebraska highway fatalities. It was a shiny streamlined car that sped over the highway wide.

And the driver had taken his little son who sat close at his side. His cheeks were red as roscheds, his eyes as black as night. He trusted his father's driving, so he felt no fear nor fright.

They drove o'er hill and valley, they scarcely saw a hill. For they were in a hurry to get there yet that night. They did not heed the crossing, they did not see the train. For they sped on like lightning, alone on the traffic lane.

Their driving was like lightning, no thought that things could smita; And there was no one near them when, like thunder, came the crash! Assistance came, but it was late—oh, it was a fatal wreck: They died, both father and the son, each of a broken neck.

It was the driver's carelessness for he was alone to blame. Of course his son was innocent: the records show his name. "Gone but not forgotten" their markers read today: "Gone but not forgotten"—there's nothing more to say.

But as long as he's your caddie he'll be also watching you. You're that growing boy's example. You will not have journeyed far. Before you will have shown him just the sort of man you are. If you break the rules he'll know it. He'll exactly keep the score and he'll know the hole just finished was a "five" and not a "four."

Edgar A. Guest

Poet Of The People

Mr. Goller, I would warn you there's a youngster at your side. And if you are fit to be with he will very soon decide. He must watch the ball you play with. That is what he's paid to do. But as long as he's your caddie he'll be also watching you. You're that growing boy's example. You will not have journeyed far. Before you will have shown him just the sort of man you are. If you break the rules he'll know it. He'll exactly keep the score and he'll know the hole just finished was a "five" and not a "four."

Excited over their contribution to the music magazine in braille are the two delegates from Mu Gamma of Mu Phi Epsilon chapter on the Nebraska campus, Mrs. Donald T. Waggoner, president of the Mu Phi Epsilon Alumnae Club, and Miss Gerayne Swanson, president of the active chapter of the music sorority, Mrs. Waggoner and Miss Swanson have just returned from Rochester, N. Y., where Mu Phi Epsilon held its national convention at the Eastman School of Music.

At the convention Mu Phi Epsilon voted to contribute the money, $1,000 for one month's publication of the monthly music magazine done in braille.

Looking over a copy of "St. Louis Blues" in braille at the home of Mrs. Waggoner are, left to right: Mrs. Waggoner, Miss Janese Ridell, alumnae vice president; Miss Swanson, Miss Jeanne Broady, active chapter historian, and Miss Shirley Hartz.

THERE are pleasant topics for conversation this morning—the Van Kirks, for example—and the Leonard Tresters—and other names that make news in Lincoln.

But about Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Van Kirk, former Lincoln residents who now reside in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Van Kirk arrives today from Washington to remain until early August as the guest of her mother, Mrs. E. J. Burkett, and to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Burkett Van Kirk. Mr. Van Kirk will be arriving on Friday to spend the week-end in Lincoln.

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Trester, also of Washington, D. C., will arrive for a very brief stay in Lincoln, and on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Van Kirk will honor Mr. and Mrs. Trester when they entertain at a reception at the home of Mrs. Van Kirk.

You may have to dig deep in your memory for the Tresters because they have not crossed Lincoln's path for a number of years. But Mrs. Trester is a former Lincoln man—was graduated from the University of Nebraska and is a Chi Phi. Mrs. Trester is the former Mary Steele, Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska. Incidentally, Mr. Trester is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trester, and is the nephew of Mrs. W. B. Rose.

Kirk returns to Washington in August she will be accompanied by Mrs. Burkett Van Kirk and her small daughter Christine. Burkett Van Kirk will join his family in Washington later and the group from Lincoln will have a holiday before returning home in September.

ANOTHER guest in Lincoln is Miss Janice Mickey who arrived on Sunday from Pittsburgh, where she is director of the Graduate School of Public Health Nursing at the University of Pittsburgh, to spend a few days visiting her mother, Mrs. C. E. Hickey, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dugdale. She will leave with Mr. and Mrs. Dugdale next Friday for a trip to California, with Estes Park an en route destination. We think you might like to know that a grant has just been approved for Miss Mickey's work on her doctorate which she will do at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and that she is the first woman ever to have been accepted for study towards a Doctor of Public Health degree.

OFF to Omaha next Saturday to attend the wedding of Miss Nancy Hawkins and Timothy Mason, will be Mr. and Mrs. J. Keith Walker and their daughter, Miss Stanley Walker; Miss Helen Hall, Miss Lucy Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau, Mr. and Mrs. Gates Minnick and Miss Kitty Lilly.

Days well filled with matters that pertained to the business and philanthropies of Sigma Kappa sorority kept the delegates to the national convention held at Glenwood Springs, Colo., on the hop, skip and jump. The convention, just closed, was the sorority's 57th national meeting and was attended by 400 women representing 69 college chapters and 180 alumnae chapters. Attending the convention from Sigma Kappa chapters in Lincoln were Mrs. A. J. Whitmer, delegate from the Lincoln Alumnae Chapter; Mrs. Samuel D. Smith, special advisor; the president of the collegiate chapter on the Nebraska campus, Miss Charlotte Henson, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Miss Mary DeMars, rush chairman.

Ph. D. From California

The University of Nebraska, Lincoln and Lancaster County were well represented at the University of California commencement ceremonies in Berkeley in June. The Nebraska representation was Dr. Ardis J. Loshro — That is, following commencement she was Dr. Loshro. Prior to that she had been Miss Loshro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Loshro and a graduate (with distinction) from the University of Nebraska from where she also received her Master's degree.

Last month she received her doctorate in biochemistry from the University of California where she has been under the direction of the famous biochemist, Dr. C. H. Li who is best known for his work in the purification of pituitary hormones, including ACTH. Dr. Loshro has been working on the development of a practical method for removing the pituitary gland of mice which opens a new avenue for the study of cancerous growth in the so-called "cancer strains" of mice. She has accepted a research appointment at California where she will continue her investigations.

Summer Weddings For Former Coeds

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Corban Taylor, Falls City, of the marriage of their daughter, Mary, to James Edwin Wiebe, son of Mrs. C. G. Hicox, Portland, Ore., which took place on Friday evening, June 29, in Portland. Only members of the families and a small group of close friends were present for the ceremony solemnized at 7 o'clock by Dr. Robert K. Russell.

Miss Thea Hicox, the bridegroom's sister and the maid of honor, was dressed in pink dotted Swiss and carried a nosegay of pink and white rosebuds.

Mack Wiebe served his brother as best man.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white crystalized designed with a brief-sleeved fitted bodice and a ballerina-length skirt that was given added fullness by means of an accordion pleated back panel. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and bouvardia.

For the honeymoon trip to Victoria, B. C., Mrs. Wiebe wore a pink and white polka dot sheath frock with matching coat. After July 8 Mr. Wiebe and his bride will be at home at 7011 Corregidor Rd., Vancouver, Wash.

Mrs. Wiebe is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

The marriage of Miss Amy Jannette Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. Palmer, Steele City, to Lt. (JG) Charles William Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stephens, Kansas City, Mo., was solemnized on Sunday afternoon July 1, at the Presbyterian Church in Steele City. The Rev. F. A. Ahrends read the lines before a background of white gladioli, against a bank of greenery, and lighted candles.

Miss Judy Larson, Miami, Fla., the maid of honor; and Mrs. Stan Kennedy of Ottumwa, Ia., formerly of Lincoln, the bridesmaid, wore alike ballerina frocks of pink cotton lace and carried bouquets of pink and white daisies.

Charles Kahn, Kansas City, served Lt. Stephens as best man, and the ushers included Richard Hanson, Kansas City, and Stanley Hargleroad, Tekamah.

For her wedding the bride appeared in a gown of white cotton lace. The bodice, fashioned with a deep portrait neckline, was snugly fitted above the extremely bouffant ballerina-length skirt. Her veil was held to the head with a crown of stiffened illusion, and she carried a bouquet of roses, stephanotis, lilies-of-the-valley and daisies.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Lt. Stephens and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Jackson Lake Lodge, Yosemite National Park, after which they will go to Colorado, Calif., where they will reside at 1023 Encina Row. For traveling Mrs. Stephens wore a sheath frock of linen in the ice-cream shade, with white accessories.

The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and Pi Lambda Theta. Lt. Stephens attended the University of Kansas where he is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

MISS BARBARA ANN WALKER

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Walker of Elm Creek make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Rodney Bruce Rich, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Rich, also of Elm Creek.

An August wedding is planned. Miss Walker is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Gamma Mu and Cardinal Key. Mr. Rich is attending the University of Nebraska College of Engineering.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

After checking our little red book in preparation for the coming month's activities, we find that, as usual, Eastridge has a variety of news. For instance, we know of a class reunion, a neighborhood picnic for the Fourth of July, vacationers who will be leaving Lincoln, vacationers who have returned to Lincoln, a birthday party, and an hors d'oeuvre party, all of which makes for interesting reading this Tuesday morning.

A high school class reunion and a week-end holiday all at one and the same time took Capt. and Mrs. Gerald Custer and one of their two sons, Doug, to Shenandoah, Ia., the past week-end. In Shenandoah members of the Custer foursome were the house guests of Mrs. Custer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lawsbe, but one of the high spots as far as Mrs. Custer was concerned was the reunion of SHS class of 1946 which was held at the Shenandoah Country Club.

Gregg Custer, who had been spending a week with his grandparents, returned home with his family on Sunday evening.

An old fashioned Fourth of July celebration will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale McCracken when they entertain 20 of their neighbors at a covered dish picnic in their back yard on Wednesday evening. Following the picnic, there will of course be fireworks to delight the youngsters.

Today is a big red letter day for Mrs. George Biggs, and her four children, George, Jimmy, Mike and Patricia. For today, they will be flying to Long Island, N.Y., to be the house guests of Mrs. Biggs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford. This will be the first family visit for Mrs. Biggs in the past three years. After spending about a month in Long Island, Mrs. Biggs and her children will spend two weeks vacationing in Washington, D.C., before returning to Lincoln the middle of August.

And, while we are talking about vacationers—Learned that Maj. and Mrs. Wayne Wentworth and their four children, Marcy, Patrick, Tony, and Lory returned home last Thursday evening after spending the past three weeks vacationing in Texas. They spent a week as the guests of Mrs. Wentworth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrell in Fulton, Tex., and also a week at the home of Maj. Wentworth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Wentworth in San Antonio.

Also on our homecomers list are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hoig and their daughter, Cynthia, who returned to Lincoln last Thursday evening, after spending the past three weeks in New York City. While they were in New York, they visited with their son and brother, Robert Hoig, who is with TWA Airlines. They also spent some time as the guests of Mrs. Hoig's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Duncan of Nunda, N.Y.

Before we leave our vacationers for this week, we want to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Young and their two sons returned on Sunday evening, after spending their holiday in Denver, Colo.

But not all of the Eastridge activity centers around vacations. This morning, for instance Mrs. Robert Kinsey and Mrs. Oscar Marlow will be hostesses at a morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Marlow. The party is to celebrate Mrs. John Hedge's birthday. Fifteen guests have been invited.

Also in the party mood were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glass who, on Saturday evening, entertained at a small neighborhood party at their home.

From all that we can gather, Maj. and Mrs. Thomas Kahley and Maj. and Mrs. Charles Vollmer were hosts and hostesses at a highly successful hors d'oeuvre party at the home of Maj. and Mrs. Kahley on Sunday evening. There was no special reason, just a neighborhood party.

This week, we had to say good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bro and their three children, Sharon, Richard and Suzanne who will be leaving soon to make their home in Arvada, Colo. Mr. Bro will be attending the University of Colorado Extension School there.

Well, all good things must come to an end and we find that our space has been filled. But there's always another week, another Tuesday and more activity in Eastridge.

Club Has Fortieth Anniversary

When the Country Women's Club of Seward met in Lincoln last week at the home of Mrs. Cora B. Briggs, the members celebrated the 40th anniversary of the group, which was organized on June 30, 1916.

During the years, 116 rural women from the community southwest of Seward have been members of the club and still active in the group are five charter members, Mrs. Marie Rocker, Mrs. Cora Briggs, Mrs. Edna Hentzen, Mrs. Edgar Fuchring, Imig and Mrs. Mae P. Briggs, an associate member.

Mrs. Harold Keller of Seward, president, conducted the program during which events of past years were recalled. A short talk on the proposed nuclear reactor plant was given by Miss Cora Mae Briggs, and a guest of the group was Mrs. M. H. Sorenson.

Other club officers are Mrs. Herbert Hentzen and Mrs. Harold Wickersham, vice presidents; Mrs. Edgar Fuchring, secretary; Mrs. Elmer Imig, treasurer; and Mrs. Edward H. Imig, publicity.

Seated (left to right) are Miss Cora Mae Briggs and Mrs. Cora B. Briggs, both of Lincoln, Mrs. Florence Imig, Mrs. Edna Hentzen, Mrs. Marie Rocker and Mrs. Chris Keller.

Standing (from the left) are Mrs. Vern Gladwish, Mrs. Elmer Imig, Mrs. Paul Imig, Mrs. Everett Owens, Mrs. Edward Rocker, Mrs. Rex Briggs, Mrs. Lee Jeffries, Mrs. Fay Hand, Mrs. Edgar Fuchring, Mrs. Alfred Imig, a former member of the club, and Mrs. Harold Keller.

Harriman Hits North Dakota With Blistering Attack On Ike

By RELMAN MORIN
C A V A L I E R, N. D., (R)—Gov. Averell Harriman came into a predominantly Republican state of North Dakota Monday to deliver another blistering personal attack on President Eisenhower for what he called the "Eisenhower farm depression."

Harriman has been touring the farm belt in an assiduous search for delegates in his effort to win the Democratic presidential nomination.

The New Yorker centered most of his fire Monday on the President.

"Eisenhower has run out on his promises to the farmers," Harriman said in a prepared speech. "Eisenhower has surrendered to, and his policies are dominated by, big business."

In an earlier meeting with North Dakota Democratic delegates and alternates, the governor shouted—"Old Army Game!"

"He (the President) is an expert at the old army game—you take credit for what goes right and let someone else take the blame for what goes wrong."

In his appearances in Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota, Harriman has insisted that the farmer has been "betrayed" and he cites figures to support his contention that they are in a "major depression."

When he came into Pembina County Monday, 14 miles from the Canadian border, Harriman entered some of the finest wheat and small grains country in the world. It is a rich section of North Dakota.

Whether the farmers here are having trouble seems to be more a matter of opinion than of demonstrable fact.

A Democratic public accountant, T. J. Kilpatrick said "the farmer who is trying to make payments on both land and machinery is in serious trouble up here today."

"Groaning As Usual"

But Floyd Hamilton, a Republican banker, said "the farmers up here are groaning as usual. Yes, they are borrowing money but its for buying machinery and for expansion."

That's the way the story develops wherever you go in the Midwest today. It depends on whom you are talking to.

Harriman spoke before some 2,000 persons at ceremonies marking Veterans Day and in celebration of the completion of a street paving project in Cavalier, population 1,500.

The fact that he came so far for so little—North Dakota has only eight Democratic convention votes—gives an indication of how hard Harriman is working for the nomination.

Local Democrats said he was invited, not so much as a political candidate, but as "an important public figure who was available for the celebration."

Anyway, Harriman tore into the President on several different grounds. He said farm income in North Dakota dropped by 100 million dollars two years ago, double that figure in 1955, and "you've been losing more this year."

Families "Plowed Under"

He said 5,000 "farm families have been plowed under" in this state. Here, as elsewhere, he emphasized the importance of preserving what he calls "the family farm" and contrasting the position of the smaller farmer with "big business."

In Cavalier he repeated his ideas of a farm program which he has set forth numerous other times on the subject. Its aim, he said, "should be a fair share of the national income for farm families—parity of income." He also said that the "tight money policy" should be reversed and he called for a more support for rural electric and rural telephone co-ops.

LINCOLN BANKERS REPORT GOOD BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Lincoln banking officials reported good steady business conditions reflected by bank deposits at the close of the first six months of the year.

Total deposits as of June 30, 1956 of $152,343,613.78 were slightly ahead of last year's total of $151,563,626.26 at the same time. A drop in deposits from the $156,241,000 of last year.

790.94 total of six months ago was explained as the result of low farm income during the first six months of 1956.

Bearing out that explanation was a $6 million increase in loans since the first of the year, attributed to expanded credit to farmers.

Radial Extension Contract Approved By City Council

A contract between the city and State Highway Department covering details for extension of the southeast radial to 33rd and A has been approved by the City Council.

The estimated $500,000 project will continue the four-lane radial, known officially as Capitol Parkway, which now terminates at 27th and D. The radial runs west to 21st and K.

The extension, as was the first leg, will be financed jointly between the city and federal government, each paying one-half the cost. The first leg of the radial cost slightly less than $1 million.

A major advantage in the extension is that the right-of-way runs through park property already owned by the city. Plans for the extension are to be completed late this summer with the job to be completed in the summer of 1957.

'Be A Chicken But Not Fried'

"Would you rather be called chicken-hearted Wednesday or be a cooked goose Thursday?" Lloyd Jenkins, Red Cross safety services director, asked those who plan July 4 outings.

He urged sunbathers to take some kidding from their friends for evading too much sun, rather than to get a sunburn.

Calamine lotion, olive oil or cocoa butter will give some relief for light sunburns, he said, but "prevention is better than any cure."

BUTLER COUNTY VANDALS HIT DOZEN HIGHWAY STOP SIGNS

Lincoln Star Special
DAVID CITY, Neb. — Butler County authorities are investigating a case of vandalism in which at least a dozen highway stop signs were bent and turned from their original position. The latest outbreak in stop sign vandalism occurred recently after several months of relatively little trouble, according to Sheriff Joseph F. Meyenburg. All of the signs were relatively new and in good repair before the vandalism, after which they were bent, accordion style, and turned parallel with the road rather than perpendicular to the traffic. One of the intersections at which the signs were damaged was the scene of a fatal traffic accident about 18 months ago. Two men were killed there in a two-car collision and the stop signs were erected shortly after the mishap.

Mail Box Vandals Get Stern Edict

Mail box vandalism from Fourth of July fireworks has brought a stern warning from Postal Inspector J. A. Bradley's office. For several years, particularly around July 4, Bradley said, the destruction of mail boxes with cherry bombs or other fireworks has been going on. Bradley said he and his associates would go the limit this year to prevent such incidents by thoughtless persons, usually teenagers. "Such vandalism will not be tolerated and every effort will be made to identify and prosecute the guilty parties," he said. The cooperation of citizens in reporting such violators is asked. If the identity is not known, license number of the car, make or color will be of great assistance, he added.

County five per cent of its taxable value. The county assessor notified Clerk Charles Land that the reduction will cut the valuation by approximately $1,180,190.

STUART SLAMS 3 HOMERS; NEEDS JUST 1 TO THE RECORD

Baseball Oddities Spice All-Star Lineup

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Regardless of the outcome of the 1956 major league All-Star game at Washington, the 23rd annual mid-summer contest, next Tuesday, July 10, will be remembered for at least four things.

1. Not a single starter from 1955's victorious National League squad will be in the 1956 opening lineup.
2. Not one member of the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers will be among the starters.
3. The 1955 batting champion (Richie Ashburn), home run king (Willie Mays), runs batted in leader (Duke Snider) pitching pacer (Don Newcombe) and Most Valuable Player (Roy Campanella) all will be absent from the starting National League nine.
4. A second-division team of 1955 (Cincinnati) will be represented by eight members, five of them in the starting lineup.

STENGEL, ALSTON... Make own choices.

In sharp contrast, the American League All-Stars will place on the field seven starters from last year. These will include two members of the defending champion New York Yankees together with league's 1955 batting (Al Kaline), home run (Mickey Vernon), pitching (Whitey Ford) champions and Most Valuable Player (Yogi Berra). Also, the team will have only eight players from all four 1955 second-division teams combined. Although neither manager, Walt Alston of the Dodgers nor Casey Stengel of the Yankees, could do anything about the starting lineups which were selected in a vote of fans, both pilots tried to equalize representation as they completed their 25-man squads Monday.

Alston named three more Redlegs to go with the five who already had been picked as starters by the fans. But he also picked four of his own Dodgers, four members of the Milwaukee Braves, a third from St. Louis, two from New York, a second from Pittsburgh and one each from Philadelphia and Chicago.

Stengel wound up with six players from his own Yankees, five from Boston, four each from Chicago and Detroit, two apiece from Kansas City and Cleveland, and one each from Baltimore and Washington.

The veteran Yankee pilot, seeking his second All-Star triumph in six years against the National League's best, selected eight pitchers. Alston, who managed the 1954 squad, the only National League squad to lose since 1949, named only seven pitchers.

Stengel's Pitchers
Stengel selected two left-handers, Chicago's Billy Pierce, the American League's winningest hurler with a 12-2 mark, and his won Whitey Ford (9-4). The right-handers are Jim Wilson (10-4) of the White Sox, Tom Brewer (10-3) and Frank Sullivan (7-3) of the Red Sox, Early Wynn (8-4) and Ray Narleski (2-2) of the Indians and Johnny Kucks (10-4) of the Yankees.

Alston will go with four right-handers and three southpaws. The righties are Clem Labine (7-3) of the Dodgers, Brooks Lawrence (10-0) of the Redlegs, Bob Friend (11-6) of the Pirates and Robin Roberts (8-9) of the Phillies. The left-handers are Johnny Antonelli

(7-7) of the Giants, Joe Nuxhall (5-7) of the Redlegs and Warren Spahn (6-6) of the Braves. Roberts has appeared in five games, Spahn in four.

The eight starters for each league, aside from pitchers, who must play the first three innings, barring injury, are: National League, Dale Long, Pittsburgh 1b; Johnny Temple, Cincinnati 2b; Ken Boyer, St. Louis 3b; Roy McMillan, Cincinnati ss; Frank Robinson, Cincinnati cf; Gus Bell, Cincinnati of; Stan Musial, St. Louis rf; and Ed Bailey, Cincinnati c. American League, Mickey Vernon, Boston 1b; Nellie Fox, Chicago 2b; George Kell, Baltimore 3b; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit ss; Ted Williams, Boston lf; Mickey Vernon, New York cf; Al Kaline, Detroit rf, and Yogi Berra, New York c.

Alston and Stengel bypassed several of the fans' second and third choices, selecting players given little backing in the polls.

The NL pilot chose shortstop Ernie Banks of Chicago, Junior Gilliam of the Dodgers, Kluszewski of the Redlegs and Eddie Mathews of the Braves as his secondary infielders. He named Hank Aaron, Braves; Mays, Giants; Snider, Dodgers and Rip Repulski, Cardinals as his reserve outfielders and backed up Bailey behind the plate with Campanella and Del Crandell of the Braves.

Stengel didn't exactly follow the dictates of the balloting either. He named first basemen Vic Power of Kansas City and Roy Sievers of Washington over Cleveland's Vic Wertz; right fielder Harry Simpson of Kansas City over New York's Hank Bauer and Boston's Jackie Jensen; and his own Billy Martin and Gil McDougald at second and short, respectively, over Billy Goodman of Boston and Chico Carrasquel of Cleveland.

Catcher Sherman Lollar of Chicago, third baseman Ray Boone and left fielder Charlie Maxwell of Detroit and center fielder Jimmy Piersall of Boston made up the rest of the squad.

Stengel named Charlie Dressen of the host Washington club and Yankee Jim Turner as coaches. Alston picked Managers Birdie Tebbets of Cincinnati and Freddie Hutchinson of St. Louis as his lieutenants.

Ontario Swim Off
NEW YORK (AP)—Channel swimmer Florence Chadwick Monday postponed her proposed attempt to swim Lake Ontario when a physical examination disclosed she was suffering from a slight case of pneumonia.

Miss Chadwick's physician, Dr. Irving Fischer, advised her not to make the attempt at this time although he said her condition is not serious. She had planned to start training right after July 4 and to make the attempt this month.

She said it will be at least two months before she knows whether she will be able to make the swim this summer.

Lincoln Slugger Gets 41, 42, 43 As Chiefs Take Lead

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Lincoln's Dick Stuart became the first player ever to hit three home runs in the Pioneer Memorial Stadium Monday night and moved to within one of the modern Western League record of 44 as Lincoln routed the Bruins, 12-2.

STUART... Hits 3 home runs in Chiefs' victory.

The victory moved the Chiefs into first place in the second half standings of the Western League. Topeka, previous leader, was whitewashed by Sioux City, 13-0.

Stuart has 67 games to go in which to beat the modern mark set by Pat Seery of Colorado Springs in 1950 and the all-time record of 49 by Guy Sturdy in 1926.

More than half of Stuart's homers to date—23—were hit in June.

He smashed his first one Monday night in the third with two on. He added another in the fifth and did it again in the ninth with one aboard, accounting for six runs.

Stuart now has 102 runs batted in for the season, which is 31 shy of the modern loop record.

Lincoln also pounded John Kiefer and Tom Guderian for 13 other hits, including a double and a homer by Joe Zavattaro, two doubles by Ken Toothman and a triple by John McDevitt.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

It will be most interesting to see how George Trautman, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, rules on the Lincoln protest in the latest Western League snafu.

For some reason, which is yet to be explained, president O. M. Hobbs of the Western League felt compelled to announce that all makeup games which count in the first half of the season will be the first game of doubleheaders.

His ruling was absolutely unnecessary because baseball law covers the situation completely. Under Rule 4.13 it clearly states that "when a rescheduled game is part of a doubleheader the rescheduled game shall be the second game, and the first game shall be the regularly scheduled game for that date."

Thus, Hobbs' directive is in obvious conflict with the rules of the game.

Either Hobbs was unfamiliar with the rules or deliberately violated the baseball rules when he ordered the league to count the first games as makeup games. It's that simple.

"Lincoln certainly was justified in protesting to Trautman. The Chiefs are in strong contention for first half honors and want a full crack at the opposition in makeup games."

Under Western League rules, the first game of a doubleheader must be seven innings, the second nine innings. Hobbs' ruling means a team has only seven innings in which to fight. Baseball rules, if followed, would give a team nine innings.

One other thing should be pointed out. Lincoln did not wait until it lost makeup games before trying to rectify "the error."

Dick Wagner, Chief's general manager, notified Hobbs by wire immediately after getting the latter's directive—the Thursday before the first makeup was played on Friday—pointing out the conflict with the official rules.

He also talked with Hobbs on Friday morning and objected to the ruling. The Western League president refused to change the order.

So, as a last resort and because it was so important to Lincoln, the Chiefs turned to Trautman. The purpose was to gain justice, not embarrass Hobbs or the league.

How will Trautman rule? There seems to be only one way he can decide the issue.

The case is covered in the rule book, thus there was no reason for Hobbs to issue a directive.

But Hobbs did issue a directive and it was contrary to baseball law.

It looks like Trautman has no other course but to find for the plaintiff—the Lincoln Chiefs, that is.

Evangelist Billy Graham recently used the University of Oklahoma's Owen Field for revival services and played before full houses.

His closing sermon was on the topic, "Will God Spare America?"

Owen Stadium is used to big crowds, but usually it's packed to see the Sooners crush hapless grid opponents.

Perhaps a more appropriate topic for discussion in Owen Stadium would be: "When Will Oklahoma Spare the Big Seven?"

Grab NL Lead With 2-1 Win

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs rode back into first place in the National League for the third time this season Monday night on the strength of a tight eight-hit pitching performance by Johnny Klippstein which produced a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

A standing room only crowd of 28,635 saw the Reds oust Milwaukee from the top spot in the league.

It was a close pitching duel all the way between Klippstein and southpaw Warren Spahn, an old Redleg nemesis.

Spahn went into Monday night's game with a 36-12 record against Cincinnati. But his wavering control, particularly in the early innings, helped create his downfall.

It was a bit unusual to see Spahn behind so many hitters on a 3-0 or 3-1 count.

Gus Bell, Redleg centerfielder, actually was the major hero of the Cincinnati victory. His first single contributed to Cincinnati's first run and his second one-base blow drove in the deciding tally.

The tight duel saw the decisive scoring completed in the opening minutes but both hurlers had to stifle threats from there on.

Three hits produced two Cub runs in the sixth, and the winners' final count clustered across in the seventh.

Ernie Banks opened with a double, and completed the journey on successive flies by Moose Moryn and Pete Whisenant to Whitey Lockman, who moved into center field for the Cardinals at the start base on the throw to third in an attempt to get Yost, scored on Sievers' single.

With two out in the seventh, Williams doubled high off the right field fence and moved to third on a wild pitch before Gernert walked.

Cubs Whip Cards; Dig Out Of Cellar

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs dug out of the National League cellar by defeating St. Louis, 6-3, Monday as Warren Hacker ducked in and out of trouble despite a yield of 11 hits.

It was Hacker's second win of the year, his first since beating Pittsburgh here June 5. It was also the Cubs' second victory in eight games against St. Louis.

The Cardinals got at least one hit in each of the first seven innings before Hacker retired three in a row in the eighth. St. Louis' third run came across in the ninth when Hal Smith, who slammed his fourth home run in the fifth, singled and rode across on Bobby Morgan's pinch double.

Three straight hits after two were out powered the Cardinals' second run in the sixth. Ken Boyer doubled, and got around on singles by Wally Moon and Rip Repulski.

The Cubs got to starter Tom Poholsky, who suffered his sixth loss, for three runs in the third.

Hacker singled to launch this sport, and before it was over Don Hoak and Gene Baker fired productive singles. The third run was the result of Don Blasingame's first of two errors on Dee Fondy's grounder.

Three hits produced two Cub runs in the sixth, and the winners' final count clustered across in the seventh.

Ernie Banks opened with a double, and completed the journey on successive flies by Moose Moryn and Pete Whisenant to Whitey Lockman, who moved into center field for the Cardinals at the start

U. S. Denies Financing Rebellion In Poland

Charge 'Wholly False'

... State Dept. Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department Monday denounced as "wholly false" Russian Communist charges that the United States financed and instigated the rebellion of Polish workers at Poznan.

A department statement said "the demonstrations in fact seem to have been produced by a surge of pent-up bitterness on the part of an oppressed and exploited people."

Arresting Hundreds
The Polish Communist authorities, it said, are now arresting hundreds of Polish citizens in reprisal and threatening "further ruthlessness." ... in the Stalin tradition.

The State Department issued its comment after receiving a text of the 6,000-word resolution adopted by the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party in Moscow.

This resolution sought to answer complaints by foreign Communist leaders asking why Russia's current bosses did not try to oppose Stalin's dictatorship.

The resolution also said "it is clear... that anti-peoples' demonstrations in Poznan were financed" by money appropriated by the U. S. Congress for such activity.

Text Perused
The text as received by the State Department also said:

"The subversive activities in the peoples' democracies will continue to fail in the future as well, although such actions are generously paid for from the money appropriated by American monopolists."

In replying, the State Department said "the whole world is watching closely" the treatment the Polish regime will give to the rebels.

The Poles who battled Polish armored divisions and thousands of police, it said, "apparently took the only course they felt open to them to express their desire for freedom."

Funeral Thursday For David Virgin

ALFRED WILSON
... two bullets in his head

Killer Of 3 Shot Down From Tree

WARREN, Ohio (U-P) — Triple slayer Alfred Wilson, 37, object of a 12-day manhunt after the slaying of three women, died Monday night a few hours after he was shot out of a tree by a state highway patrolman.

The truck driver lived about 3 1/2 hours after two bullets from the officer's pistol had pierced his brain. He died in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Cornered by three state highway patrolmen in a woods behind a relative's house, Wilson climbed a tree and was reaching for his .38-caliber pistol when the officer fired, the patrolman said.

The relative, Wilson's brother-in-law, James Lawson, told the patrolmen afterwards that Wilson was going to force Lawson to drive to Warren where the fugitive wanted to find and kill his estranged wife, Juanita.

It was a quarrel with his common law wife that started Wilson on a 30-mile death dealing tour of this area the night of June 21. He killed two sisters of his wife and a young girl he met by chance and kidnapped.

Council Acts To Restrict Paving Plans

The City Council has cut the size of one paving district and held up action on another on the grounds that the projects were too great a financial risk for the city.

On paving, the city pays for the improvement and assesses the cost back against abutting properties. However, if the property owners do not pay their assessment, the city must pay for the cost of the improvement.

In such cases, properties involved are generally sold at tax sale. Frequently, however, the sale price does not bring enough to pay special assessments after other regular taxes have been paid.

The Council has held up the award of a contract for the paving of Pioneers from 40th to 48th and streets to the south in Fieffe's Union Addition. A large percentage of the property to be assessed still consists of vacant lots.

Cost of the project is estimated at $96,000.

In another district, Meadow Lane in the area around 70th and Vine, an $85,000 paving district was cut to $42,000. The unimproved area was removed from the district.

A slow down in new home construction in the city was noted throughout the Council's discussion of the matter. The building record shows that new home activity this year is only about one-half what it was a year ago.

The following plans were approved by the Council:

Sewer in Park Manor, $14,400.
Water in Park Manor, $33,000.

Man To Reformatory; Issued Bad Check

Reuben Sell, 45, of 238 C was sentenced in Lancaster District Court to a three-to-five-year Reformatory term on a fraudulent check charge.

Sell pleaded guilty to issuing on June 20 a $75 no-account check on the National Bank of Commerce with intent to defraud.

Defense Measure Is Signed

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (U-P) — Described as feeling stronger day by day, President Eisenhower signed the huge $34,656,727,000 defense appropriation bill Monday and okayed but complained about a public works measure.

The President put in his heaviest working session since his intestinal operation June 9—an hour with aids in which he signed 21 bills, vetoed two, nominated 48 postmasters and approved a proclamation.

The White House press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen:

"The President this morning got up at about 7:30, and the doctors tell me that he is coming along fine, and that he told them this morning that he realizes he is feeling stronger and stronger each day."

When a reporter inquired whether Eisenhower's Feb. 29 announcement that he would try for another term had been rescinded, Hagerty replied:

"I haven't seen anything rescinded."

Then to the next question, whether he had seen anything that might reaffirm the announcement, Hagerty answered:

"I haven't any comments on any of those questions."

The big defense bill carried nearly a billion dollars more than Eisenhower wanted for the Air Force. Congress had insisted on upping the ante, regardless of hold-down pleas from the administration.

Hagerty said no, Eisenhower didn't have any comment when he signed the measure.

LIQUOR REVENUE DROPS SLIGHTLY

State liquor revenue for the first half of 1956 fell off slightly from last year. The Liquor Control Commission reported Monday.

Revenue for the first six months of this year totaled $1,466,300. The figure for the first half of 1955 was $1,542,848.

Revenue last month was $281,118, compared to $273,091 in June, 1955.

Scottsbluff Girl Is Selected For European Tour

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. — Ruby B. Wilds, Scottsbluff High School student, has been selected a junior United States goodwill ambassador for a six-nation European tour.

Miss Wilds and 79 other students will leave New York Tuesday for a six-week visit to England, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Austria, Switzerland and France. The tour is sponsored by the National Association of Student Councils.

Deiter Claus of Berlin, Germany, will arrive in Scottsbluff in August. He will live with the Dan Ramsey family.

Weekend Full Of Auto Parts Thefts

Motorists reported to police thefts of auto parts. Among them were:

Milt Gates Jr. of 4823 Huntington reported that a garage he rented was entered and a motor valued at $100 was stolen. Entrance was gained to the garage at 4842 Madison by unlocking a padlock on the door.

Eldon Beever of 2737 No. 12th related that his garage was entered and a battery valued at $10 was stolen from his car.

Charles Bolus Jr. of 4235 Starr reported that a hub cap was stolen from his car parked near his home.

Meeks Auto Rental of Omaha said that while Dowd Fonda, a customer, left a rented car parked on L between 12th and 13th Street, a radio valued at $75 was removed from the car.

Learner Jumps In Deep Water; Saved

OMAHA (U-P) — Robert Wisner Jr., 8, narrowly escaped drowning in the Kellom Pool.

A lifeguard, Tom Pedersen, 17, pulled young Wisner from the pool's deep end. The lifeguard applied artificial respiration until a fire department rescue unit arrived. Mr. and Mrs. Wisner said Robert had been taking swimming lessons at the pool, but had been told not to go into the 12-foot end alone.

Robert said after his rescue he had jumped in without knowing how deep the water was.

City's Legal Advertising Troubles Not Solved Yet

No final solution has yet been found by city officials to the problem of legal advertising now facing the City Council.

The Council advised one developer Monday that plans for a paving district in his area could not move forward until the advertising problem was cleared up. The city charter requires that the city must advertise for 10 days to receive bids on any item costing in excess of $1,500.

Having given the city approximately a year's notice, publishers refused the advertising, effective July 1, at the current rate of 25 cents a square. A charter amendment to raise the rate to 75 cents a square was defeated in the June 26 special election.

The developer Monday was advised the plans could move forward if he wanted to pay the higher advertising rate himself.

Monday's claims against the city were carried in the Daily Reporter. This practice will not work on all city business, however, according to Mayor Clark Jeary.

In addition to bids, all ordinances must be published before they become effective. Three ordinances were passed by the City Council on third and final reading Monday but will not become effective until the advertising problem is settled.

The ordinances are:

Plan of Homebuilder's re-plat at 52nd and Kavan.

Paving of Vine 74th to 75th Water district in Locust, 54th to 56th.

Ordinances introduced on first reading were:

Requirement that all business before the Board of Adjustments be given a majority vote of three before it can be passed on to the City Council.

Change in zoning from residence to industrial business of property at Corner and Vine of L. Corner to one-half mile east of 56th.

Paving of 63rd, Lexington to Francis.

Paving of Merrill, 31st to 32nd and 32nd, Merrill to Lexington.

Paving of Normal, 54th to 56th.

Sewer in the alleys between 54th and 56th and between 56th and 58th from Kearney to Seward.

having wonderful time... SHOPPING!

When summer comes, spring is far behind—in sales. People shop a billion dollars more in summer than in spring!

"Summer slump" has been replaced by "summer jump" according to the U. S. Department of Commerce. It reports that retail sales were $48.8 billion last spring, then soared to $46.8 billion in the summer!

People are just as active reading their newspapers in the summer, too. Daily newspaper circulation remains almost constant all year 'round.

Put these facts together and they spell SALES. Make sure you get your share of summer sales—use the newspaper to reach people in the summer. Remember—there's no summer slump in sales or newspaper readership. And there's no summer replacement for the newspaper! All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

City Fathers Pay Wadhams '30' Tributes

City officials of the present and past were on hand at Monday's meeting of the City Council to honor Phil Wadhams, Lincoln Journal reporter who has been on the City Hall "beat" for the past 45 years. He will retire on July 6.

Wadhams, who covered the State Capitol for several years before going to the City Hall, was praised for his factual reporting and the friendships he made.

Both Mayor Clark Jeary and former mayor and now Gov. Victor E. Anderson paid tribute to Wadhams and members of the press in general. Others who spoke of their confidence in Wadhams' reporting were former mayors Verne Hedge and Richard O. Johnson; former City Council members John Comstock, Thomas Pansing and Buster DeBrown; former welfare and safety director Cobe Venner; and former city attorneys Judge John Jacobson and C. Russell Mattson.

Wadhams was presented an air conditioner for his home, 4601 Normal, and was commissioned an admiral in the Nebraska Navy by Gov. Anderson.

Admiration Expressed
WASHINGTON (U-P) — The Senate adopted a resolution expressing "profound admiration" of the people of Poland and urging President Eisenhower to expedite relief shipments to alleviate hunger in Communist-dominated Poland.

Tennessee Man Is New Union College Department Head

L. K. Tobiasen is new chairman of the department of religion at Union College, President Harvey C. Hartman, announced.

Tobiasen has been a professor at Southern Missionary College in Tennessee since 1946.

He replaced A. V. Wallenkampf, chairman of the Union College religion department the past three years, who will go to the College of Medical Evangelists in Loma Linda, Calif.

Tobiasen received his secondary education in Norway and Denmark and did part of his college work in Germany and England.

He was graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College, Berrien Springs, Mich., and received an M.A. Degree from the Seventh-Day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C.

He has completed courses and preliminary examinations for his doctorate.

quested grazing privileges on soil bank land. Ed Hoyt, state director of agriculture, said Monday the U.S. Department of Agriculture has not been inclined to grant grazing rights to soil bank land unless the counties have been classified as drought areas.

Six Recommended To date, six counties have been recommended for such privileges by Gov. Victor Anderson.

All claimed drought conditions as the major reasons for wanting to graze land that has been put out of active production under the soil bank plan.

The counties are Colfax, Butler, Stanton, Platte, Boyd, and Knox. Gov. Victor Anderson has passed along the recommendations for the counties, said he has requested the aid of Rep. R. D. Harrison, Norfolk, with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The governor said he has asked Harrison to request special permission for Nebraska farmers to graze the soil bank land.

Temporary Relief Hoyt said Monday that grazing out fields, which have been put out of production by soil bank provisions, would be only temporary relief for farmers in the affected areas.

Power Line To Be Discussed At Next Interagency Meeting

... Governor Tells Of Highway Talks

The problem of the Ft. Randall power line to Grand Island will be brought up at the next meeting of the Interagency Committee, Gov. Victor Anderson reported Monday. The governor, just back from the conference of governors at Atlantic City, said the power line had been discussed with governors of states that will draw from Ft. Randall, but that no issues were concluded.

Major discussion at the conference, the governor said, was on the highway bill recently passed by Congress and signed by the President.

Nebraska's matching funds problem will have to be solved by the Legislature, the governor said. He was not sure about how the money should be raised, he added, saying "we'll have to look at all plans" for raising the matching funds.

Could Save Lives The interstate road plan, he said, looks into the future for the needs of drivers.

He said interstate roads built on modern standards could effect a savings of about 35 per cent in the number of persons killed in automobile accidents.

Gurley Man Reappointed

... To Wheat Group

Reappointment of Berton Cunningham of Gurley, Neb., to the Nebraska Wheat Development, Utilization and Marketing Committee was announced Monday by Gov. Anderson.

The committee was created under an act of the 1955 Legislature.

Cunningham originally was appointed for a term of one year, expiring June 30. The new appointment is for five years.

Cunningham represents the western part of the state on the committee.

June Brides Uphold Tradition In County

June is the bridal month and 175 brides upheld the tradition in Lancaster County, according to Virginia Tate, deputy clerk of the County Court.

Thirty per cent of the 580 marriage licenses issued so far in 1956 were issued in June. In June, 1955, 170 licenses were issued.

Richardson Taxation Valuation Goes Down

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Valuation of Richardson County property for taxation purposes has dropped over $300,000.

Assessor Arch Nell reported a valuation of $58,856,370, as compared with $60,471,875 in 1955. Property owners are taxed on half the valuation figure.

TAX COMMISSIONER ASKS ABOUT ASSESSMENT DROP

Four Nebraska counties will be asked, in letters from Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington, why they have reported marked decreases in real estate property on 1956 assessments.

The State Board of Equalization, meeting in regular session Monday, took its first look into assessment schedules for the year.

Herrington told the board the four counties, Colfax, Knox, Harlan, and Arthur, had reported marked drops in real estate property evaluations. Part of this may be due, Herrington said, to their listing the property by its basic value and thinking it was the actual value.

Basic Value Rule The board is expected to adopt a basic value rule for applying assessed valuations in considering assessment schedules for all counties during the last two weeks of July.

Under this rule, property, either personal or real estate, would be listed at actual value. The board then would apply a 70 per cent of actual value figure to reach what is termed the basic value.

The basic value figure then would be cut in half to reach the assessed value, as provided by the Legislature in fixing the taxing schedule at 30 per cent of the basic value.

In the 51 returns up for consideration Monday, out of 70 reported to the tax commissioner's office, basic value showed a decline of from $2,358,277.04 in 1955 to $2,262,337,523 this year.

have been tabulated to indicate any dominant trend in the counties which have reported.

He said indications are that all counties will show a drop in personal property, with both grain and livestock responsible for the drops.

Grain is less because less bushels are being produced, Herrington said, and livestock prices are lower than last year, which accounts for this decrease.

Gov. Victor Anderson, as chairman of the board, said the drop in the over all valuation report may be made up when Douglas County files its assessment report.

Oil Offsets Drop The only increases shown in any of the counties are those in which heavy oil exploration and drilling have offset the drop in agricultural products and livestock.

Sen. Smathers Demands Probe Of CAA As Sequel To Fatal Canyon Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—A demand for an investigation of the Civil Aeronautics Administration came Monday from Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) as a sequel to the crash of two airliners in Grand Canyon, Ariz., with the loss of 128 lives.

"If we are to insure the future of commercial aviation, we must closely examine our safety standards and takeoff, landing and flight procedures," Smathers said in a letter to Chairman Magnuson (D-Wash.) of the Senate Commerce Committee.

"I therefore urgently request that you direct the committee to conduct an immediate investigation of the Civil Aeronautics Administration as to whether or not the present operations are keeping up with the increase in the volume of air travel, plane speeds, limitations of air space and the demands made upon it by commercial and military needs."

Meanwhile, the Civil Aeronautics Board said it will hold a public hearing "as soon as possible," probably in Los Angeles, the city from which the two planes took off on their fatal flight Saturday.

In other Washington developments: 1. Milton W. Arnold, vice president of the Air Transport Assn., said it is his "guess" that no air traffic control system could have prevented the crash.

Arnold, testifying before a House Government Operations subcommittee which has been studying the government's role in civil aviation, said no absolutely fool-proof system could be developed to prevent aerial collisions.

"There are still going to be mistakes," Arnold said. "Human beings and machines are not going to function perfectly."

2. Max Karant, vice president of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Assn., an organization of private plane owners and pilots, said "A considerable area of mystery will probably surround this mystery forever." He suggested the Civil Aeronautics Board require all transport aircraft be equipped with automatic flight recorders.

Recorders

"Had both of these airliners been equipped with these recorders many of the most urgently needed facts relating to this tragedy would become known as soon as the recorders could be found," Karant said.

The CAB assigned Robert W. Christ, chief of the hearings and reports division of its safety bureau, to preside over the inquiry into the crash.

The CAA, which Smathers demanded be investigated, has charge of the nation's airways, while the CAB has jurisdiction over economic aspects of civil aviation, including safety.

On Course

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Both the United and Trans World airlines which apparently collided before crashing in the Grand Canyon Saturday were off course to the north, Civil Aeronautics Administration officials said Monday.

The United DC7 was about 25 miles off its flight plan route to Chicago. The TWA Super Constellation was about five miles off its projected route to Kansas City. Both had left Los Angeles eastbound within three minutes of each other.

Walter P. Plett, CAA western regional administrator, declined, however, to fix this as the reason for the crash, which killed 128 persons.

The two planes normally would have crossed paths over Black Mesa, 85 miles east of the accident scene in Arizona, he said.

Plett and other CAA officials also said at a news conference that it is "too early" to say definitely that the planes had collided.

INMATE RELEASED—INTO WAITING MARSHAL'S ARMS

A Nebraska Penitentiary inmate was taken into federal custody by a U.S. deputy marshal who had prepared to spend the night, if necessary, at the state prison to await the inmate's release following a habeas corpus action.

Inmate Z. H. Castleberry, 31, had been ordered released by Lancaster District Judge Harry Ankeny, but the court order was belatedly delivered to the prison after court hours.

Deputy U.S. Marshal Jess Wheeler had gone to the prison in the morning to await Castleberry's release, but the court order lay in the District Court Clerk's office.

Delivery of the order to the prison was made after a court clerk returned to the office after hours, following an exchange of telephone calls, to certify the order.

In the habeas corpus action, Judge Ankeny had ruled in Castleberry's favor after hearing evidence on whether or not two sentences from two different counties, but imposed by the same judge, should run concurrently or consecutively.

Castleberry was sentenced to five years Feb. 16, 1953, in Cheyenne County on a forgery charge by District Judge John Kuns. On March 2, 1953, Castleberry was sentenced in Keith County by Kuns to two four-year concurrent terms on burglary charges.

Castleberry contended that his five-year term with good behavior had expired June 16.

Judge Kuns had not specified whether or not the Cheyenne and Keith County sentences were to run concurrently.

Judge Ankeny ruled that since it was not specified, the legal rule is that such are to run concurrently, instead of consecutively.

Castleberry was taken into federal custody to begin service of a one-year term pronounced by the U.S. District Court at Albuquerque, N.M., in connection with a post office burglary indictment. Castleberry also received a five-year suspended sentence with probation.

Plans Checked For Moving Prefab School

The City Council put a kink in plans of the School District when it turned down a request to move a temporary school building from Huntington to Riley School.

The building involved is a double unit prefabricated structure which measures 29 by 72 feet. It was to be moved from 47th and Adams to 48th, down to Orchard and over Orchard to 50th.

City Engineer Carl Fisher and Building Inspector Ed Vorhees refused to approve the move because of the traffic congestion it would cause on 48th.

Superintendent of School Steven N. Watkins expressed surprise at the city's action.

"Something will have to be worked out," he said, "as the building must be moved. It is essential that the extra classroom space be provided at Riley."

Between Garland and Holdrege on 48th, the paving is only 28 feet wide. Thus, the move would stop traffic in both directions.

Watkins stated, however, that moving of the building would take only a short time.

Fisher and Vorhees suggested the possibility of working out a way to make the move, possibly at night.

60 Street Lights Planned By City

Plans for the installation of 60 additional street lights before the end of the fiscal year Sept. 1 have been explained to the City Council.

The report on lights was made by Public Works Director D. L. Erickson. Since Sept. 1, 1955, the city has installed 34 new lights at a cost of $6,890.40.

Materials for the other 60 lights are mostly on hand. The report shows some 99 applications for lights still pending.

POSTCARD

Moab is the oldest town in Southern Utah. The first Mormons, the Billings party, came down in 1835 and saw the nearby Colorado River would be fine for irrigating the valley.

They therefore gave the word to the Ute Indians about religion. Also that they would be glad to take over the real estate. The Utes were not impressed. The Utes said the only thing they cared to raise was some body else's hair. Which could be done without irrigation and required only a sharp knife.

They demonstrated this on a few of the Billings contingent. A demonstration so discouraging that nobody came back until about 1830. They named the settlement Moab for the country where Moses died looking at the land of Canaan.

In the nineties, Butch Cassidy and the Wild Bunch held up a few miles away at Robbers' Roost and, occasionally, rode over and shot a few holes in the frame shacks on Main street.

By 1932, a Texas geologist named Charlie Steen came into town on a grubstake borrowed from a service station operator. He came back out of the Big Indian district with the Mi Vida uranium mine. Estimated at $70,000,000.

The amateur prospector boom of 1934 built a whole new main street full of parking meters. Boomed in '34, busted in '35.

Bob White who writes mining news all over the Southwest drove me out to an old shady frame shack the other day to meet Mr. R. W. Balsley.

"Mr. Balsley has been mining uranium since 1912. Not many people know that."

"Mr. Balsley used to go out and get sacks of the stuff. They say during depression he kept Moab alive. People would go out and prospect up a sack of high-grade uranium and sell it for $5 to $8. It kept them in food."

Mr. Balsley was in his back yard. He said he was making a homemade drill and would be glad to tell the story of the Yellow Circle mine.

"It was about 1912 and this fellow, this prospector Charlie Snell had a dream. Dreamed of a yellow circle in a rock. That's a type of uranium shows up yellow."

"Well, sir, the next morning, he went over about 15 miles where he remembered the landmarks in the dream and there he found the yellow circle in the rock."

"That's the way we used to find uranium. Had to have 20 to 30 per cent uranium to make it worthwhile. No Geiger counters so you had to look for outcroppings. Used to look for petrified logs. The logs go to uranium salts when they petrify."

White said he had also heard the dream story. But it was not Charlie Snell but Charlie McConkie and he dreamed of a petrified log sticking out of a cliff.

"Must have been two different people and two different dreams then," said Mr. Balsley. He took us around in the front of the yard and showed us a rock with a yellow circle in it.

"That's the very rock Charlie Snell dreamed about and the one he found. And that Yellow Circle mine has been going 40-odd years and still producing about 600 tons a month."

While I was in Moab, about a half dozen jeeps came through. Loaded with water bags and supplies.

White said there was plenty of uranium out there. And Mr. Balsley agreed.

"But all those thousands of prospectors in 1934 found out that uranium is like gold. It's hard to find. I found that out back in 1912. But I've been going ever since."

HIGHWAY 35 RELOCATION

Objectors' Attorney Believes Further Court Action Futile

Frank Morrison of Lincoln, attorney for northeast Nebraskans who have been trying to block relocation of Highway 35 between Wayne and Wakefield, said Monday no further court action is planned "at this time."

He said he had not discussed the matter with his clients since the State Supreme Court last week upheld the Lancaster District Court in dismissing their suit, but he believes further court steps would be futile.

The northeast group has sought a declaratory judgment on the constitutionality and validity of the law (LB 187) which mapped out a revised state highway system and called for relocation of Highway 35.

Without ruling on the issues of the suit, the Supreme Court held the action failed to name all the defendants who should have been named and as such should be dismissed.

The suit was brought against the governor, state engineer and attorney general. The court said the state auditor, state treasurer and 16 contractors also should have been included.

SQUARE DANCE FUN ROUNDUP INCLUDES BEGINNERS' CLASSES

Square dance enthusiasts, both veterans and beginners, will gather at the University of Nebraska Thursday and Friday for the annual Square Dance Fun Roundup.

The four sessions will be free and open to the public. Instruction will be given in fundamentals, simple dances and calling techniques.

Dance sessions will be held at the Student Union Ballroom from 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Friday and from 7:30 to 10 p.m. each evening.

Techniques of calling will be taught at the same hours in Room 313 of the Union.

Members of the steering committee from the university are Loyd Collier, caller-teacher; Mrs. Elvera
